

Navigating the Special Education Process

Marni Johnson has been working in the field of special education for the past 20 years. Her educational background includes a Masters in Educational Psychology, an Education Specialist degree in School Psychology, a Certificate of Advanced Study in School Administration, and a Director of Special Education license. She most recently served as an assistant superintendent for student services in one of the largest suburban high school districts in IL, overseeing special education, 504 plans, discipline, health services, and counseling services. Her career started in the field of school psychology where she found a love for working with students and families, as well as a passion for learning about special education law and procedures
